St. Clair County is home to four county parks: Columbus County Park, Fort Gratiot County Park, Goodells County Park, and Woodson County Park. St. Clair County also operates the Wadhams to Avoca Trail and works with local units of government on development of the 54-mile Bridge to Bay Trail.

W.K. Kellogg Foundation

The W.K. Kellogg Foundation Access to Recreation program awarded a $10,000 grant to St. Clair County Parks for the completion of a barrier-free boardwalk leading to the waters of Lake Huron. The boardwalk will allow residents of all abilities to enjoy the beach and waters at Fort Gratiot County Park.

Access to Recreation projects provide universal access for people of all abilities to a wide variety of recreation opportunities, such as nature viewing and photography areas, hiking trails, scenic outlooks, waterfalls and water activities of all kinds, beaches, fishing and boating, playgrounds, picnic areas, campgrounds, and much more.

Funding

Funding for the purchase of the Fort Gratiot County Park property was made possible with a $2.2 million grant from the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund administered by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. The St. Clair County Parks and Recreation millage provided funding for the grant local match and ongoing development of the park.

On December 11, 1971, a horrific blast ripped through the nearly-completed water intake tunnel being constructed for the City of Detroit’s Water and Sewage Department. Twenty-two men who were working in the tunnel at the time of the blast were killed. The tunnel, located under the grounds of Fort Gratiot County Park, was being constructed to provide drinking water for the City of Detroit and Southeastern Michigan.

In the Summer of 2007, construction of the tunnel memorial was completed. On August 21, 2007, thirty-six years after the tragedy, the memorial was dedicated to honor those killed on that fateful day in December of 1971. The memorial now serves as a constant reminder of those that gave their lives so that others would have safe drinking water.
